“Exoterik are a polished band that could easily hold their own against the heavy weights of this genre”.
- Room Thirteen, Live Review, 2007.

Exoterik are ready to unleash their eagerly awaited second album entitled Butterfly In Your Hand which encapsulates Exoterik’s dynamic approach to songwriting with their energetic riffs and passionate delivery. “This is a mature, strong release full of tracks imbued with melodic heaviness and an emotionally charged energy”.

- Fabienne T, Alternative Magazine.

After recording the previous album Don’t Swallow between Finland and Latvia with producer John Fryer, Exoterik have this time decided to keep to their roots and record their second album in England. The album promises to be big and bold, with metal grooves, catchy melodies and powerful riffs. This album will see Exoterik spreading their wings, taking listeners to new heights far beyond their previous album. Butterfly In Your Hand is scheduled for worldwide release in the later part of 2009 with a tour to follow.

Exoterik have toured venues up and down the UK, delivering their music and showcasing their high-powered performances, playing alongside the likes of Lacuna Coil, Blue October, Epica, Lahannya and Stuck Mojo to name but a few, as well as performing at major festivals around the UK.

The first single ‘Are You Alive’ was self-released in April 2008 and was soon followed by a 10 day U.K. tour with US rockers Wednesday 13. Shortly after the tour, Exoterik welcomed new bass player Darren Townes to the band line-up and they continue to expand their fan-base.

“They are a band with such pure talent, energy and outspokenness about them, that it is no wonder why their music is so inspiring.” - Lynda Dale MacLean, Grave Concerns (U.S. E-Zine), April 2008.
